CITY AND HARBOR OF KINGSTON, CANADA, FROM THE FORT

Kingston and Its Attractions.

KINGSTON is an historic city. Its settlement is almost contemporaneous with that of Quebec. In 1673 Count de Frontenac, Governor of New France, made a voyage hither with one hundred and twenty boats in great state, and established a fortified trading post after his own name, with the favor of the Iroquois tribe. Here La Salle built a vessel, and sailed up the lake, establishing a fort at Niagara, where again he built for the navigation of Lake Erie, a part of his aim for a passage to China and by the Mississippi to Mexico.

About Fort Frontenac, called by the Indians Cataraqui, colonists settled. The treachery of its next commandant, De Denonville, towards the Indians, had its fruit in siege, capture and massacres. Frontenac, recalled from France, rebuilt the fort, and it had a tranquil existence till the British capture under Colonel Bradstreet in 1758. It again became important when the Loyalists flocked over from the United States as a result of the War of Independence, and settled in and about it in great numbers, giving it the name of King's Town.

In 1842 it was made the capital of Upper Canada, and great building enterprise was undertaken, but within a few years the seat of government was withdrawn, dissipating the fortunes of the people, and giving a death blow to enterprise while that generation lasted. It settled down to the life and dependence of a garrison town, fostered by extensive fort building under imperial policy.

The British troops being withdrawn, and lake commerce being on the decline, Kingston roused itself in the sixties, and has steadily advanced from a population of 12,600 to one of 21,000, including the Canadian regulars in garrison and suburbs of Portsmouth.

Here are Queen's College, with 500 students in arts, science, theology and medicine; the Royal Military College, beautifully located and finely equipped; the Royal College of Physicians, a branch of Queen's; the Kingston Young Ladies' College; a College of Mining and Agriculture, including dairying, veterinary and navigation schools; the Dominion Business College, and a Collegiate Institute in unbroken operation since 1794.

THE TOWN OF NEW BRITAIN, N.S., AS SEEN FROM THE TOWER OF ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Various fortifications give the town a military strength second only to that of Quebec, and its five armed martello towers possess an especial interest for visitors. Here, in the days gone by, Navy Bay was filled with vessels of war from England : but the dock yard, after many years of idleness, is doing duty as a site for the Military College.

Its commercial importance, before the era of railroads, was pre-eminent in Ontario, due to its position at the juncture of Lake Ontario and the River St. Lawrence (with a land-locked harbor easy of access), and to its being at the foot of Bay of Quinte and Rideau Canal navigation. Extensive grain transshipment takes place from lake vessels to river barges ; rafting of timber is a vigorous business, and a fair lumber, coal and iron trade is done in vessels.

A dry dock, claimed to be the best on the continent, is complete.

Besides the Grand Trunk Railway, there is the Kingston and Pembroke, running 120 miles north through the iron mining district, and connecting with the Canadian Pacific System ; the Kingston, Napanee and Western, running 90 miles northwest ; and the projected Kingston, Smith's Falls and Ottawa Railway, 120 miles to the northeast.

Its industries include locomotive and engine works, which, running full, employ 500 men, a cotton mill, a hosiery mill, a car works, machinery foundry, stove works and cement, oilcloth, biscuit and broom factories.

Its public institutions include the Dominion penitentiary, with 600 inmates ; a provincial asylum, with 800 patients ; two hospitals, two orphanages and two homes for the aged. The public buildings and churches are all of stone, the city hall, court house and Roman Catholic cathedral being models of architecture. It is the seat of a Roman Catholic archbishop and Anglican archbishop. The assessment of property aggregates $8,000,000.

In beauty of location, in legendary lore and poetry of romance, Kingston towers unique among the cities of this Continent. Politically, Kingston is a fine example of a colonial city, of the great country representing the Imperial Crown in America, the staunch northern link in the chain of her possessions with which Great Britain has engirdled the world. Socially Kingston is one of the most hospitable of cities.

" There is nowhere," says Picturesque Canada, edited by Principal Grant, and in the description of Kingston and vicinity by Miss A. M. Machar, " to be enjoyed a more delightful day's sail than that from Kingston down the river. The traveller starts in the early dawn of a summer morning, as the sun rises golden over the high land of the opposite shore of the harbor—the wide lake stretching calm and glassy in the blue distance to the west. On opposite islands stand out clear in their relative positions, Garden Island, with its cluster of shipping in front, behind Simcoe Island to the west, with the Batteau Channel between it and Wolfe Island, whose green fields and columnar shaded trees and scattered farm houses extend down the river for twenty miles.

VIEWS AT CITY PARK.

“ Kingston rises on its gentle slope, the cool grey buildings and slender spires catching the warm glow of the level sunbeams. Far to the right, beyond the long bridge, the winding Cataraqui shows a misty blue between the high green banks that end in the gorge at Kingston Mills. The City Buildings, the Court House and the tower of Queen's University catch the eye as it travels back along the fringe of shipping towards a point, flanked by a Martello tower, at the extreme left, while, farther back, the outlines of the Asylum can be traced in the distance.

“ Opposite to the city rises the slope of Barriefield, with its grey church tower, and the undulating ‘common’ rising gradually into the Fort Hill, while between this and the city runs out the long, level promontory, on which—irradiated by the early sunshine—stand the old and new buildings of the Military College.

“ Turning the point made by the Fort Hill, with its embankments and sally-ports, we glide swiftly past Cedar Island, with its Martello tower, and the river channel—some fourteen miles wide—is fairly entered. Cedar Island first shows the peculiar contour and formation of ‘The Thousand Islands,’ grey gneiss, encrusted with moss and lichen, bearing a low, luxuriant vegetation of birch and cedar and tangled shrubbery.

“ A short distance above Gananoque the island mazes begin, with bold, grey rocks, tufted with dark pines, or little bosky clusters of foliage nestling close to the clear blue waves. On a calm summer morning, when the rich and varied colorings of granite, with overhanging foliage of every shade of living green, are reflected in the glassy river, which the steamer's swell raises—not breaks—into long, heavy undulations, the scene is like fairyland. We bid adieu to Kingston, the pleasantest residence city in Canada, with lingering regrets.”

VIEW IN KINGSTON HARBOR.

The Limestone City.

Calm and serene is her front, the city that guardeth the gateway .

She to whom storm is but laughter, who maketh the torrent her mock .
She who is fortress crowned, who beareth a fleet in her bosom,
Who is girdled with green, and clothed with a glory of leaf and blossom,
City enthroned on the rock.

Memory, tradition are hers, haunting her name like a perfume :

When smiling rivals were not she could murmur, "I live."
Here for a hundred years she has set her face to the morning,
Whisper of praise she needs not, softly the answer returning ;
" Mine not to seek but to give."

Fair is she in the springtime, when a bride veil of mist wreaths her islands :

Fair when the flashing crystals gleam white in the frost king's breath .
Fair when her domes and her towers are in summer-tranced waters beholden ;
But fairest of all when in splendors ruddy and golden,
Her maples go down to their death.

More than beauty is hers—great lives claim her as their cradle :

Names that shall never die are inscribed on the roll of her fame.
When, in the time to come, are repeated in song and in story
Deeds of the heroes of old, with a share in their glory
Men shall utter her name.

Have You Seen It? What?

The Wood Bros'. Rawhide Pneumatic Tire for Bicycles, Trotting Sulkies and other Light Vehicles.

PRACTICALLY PUNCTURE PROOF.

Being made of Oil-tanned Rawhide, specially prepared, water does not effect it. After being in actual use for six months it is as firm and flexible as when first put on.

COMPARED WITH THE RUBBER TIRE.

It is one-third lighter.	It does not puncture with reasonable usage.
It is more resilient.	It does not creep or roll on rim.
It does not so readily slip on ice or asphalt.	It can be used on any rim.
It does not rot so readily.	It can be repaired by any shoemaker, when necessary.
It resists heat and cold.	It will outwear three ordinary tires.
It does not burst.	It is cheaper than the Rubber Tire.

Price per pair covers.....	$10.00
" " with tubes and valves.....	14.00
